The Brief

Lewis & Hickey having previously seen a number of reception desks manufactured by Intech and were looking to find a manufacturer both local to their office in Manchester and also to site in Middleton, to manufacture the design completed by themselves and approved by the end client.

Whilst looking for suitable companies Lewis & Hickey representatives were happy with the durability of the reception desks that they had seen and due to the nature of the site knew that Intech would be a suitable provider for the reception that they had designed.

How we met the challenge

The reception desk exudes simplicity and style, with a combination of white gloss laminates, treated hardwood, colour core Formica laminate to the work surface and edging and a custom made suspended lighting raft. The nature of the curves and colours of the reception desk embrace the building structure.
